What are the divisions of the OT?

- Torah (Law) also known as the Pentateuch
- Nebi'im (Prophets)
- Kethubim (Writings)
- The first consonant in each of these three sections make up the TaNaK, the OT as we know it.
- Canon is from Greek word kanon, meaning "rule" as in a "ruler."

Jewish Writings

The Book of Psalms

We have no Hebrew writings today that existed before Mt. Sinai (1445 BC)

Jewish Primary Sources Began at the Tabernacle

So that he might 'dwell in their midst', Yahweh gave the Israelites, through Moses, precise directions on how to build a portable sanctuary.

The heart of the sanctuary was the tabernacle, 1, which was divided into two compartments by a veil called the parokhet. Made of finely woven linen, it was dyed 'violet-purple, red-purple and crimson and embroidered with great winged creatures'.

The first compartment was the Holy Place and contained an incense altar, a lampstand and the shewbread table. The incense burner was made of acacia wood and was covered with gold. It was 18in/0.4m square

The lampstand, or menorah, was in the form of a stylised tree and made of gold. From the base and central column stemmed six branches, rising to the same height as the centre. The seven lamps were

Why Adopted So Late? What Criteria was Used?

- Apocrypha
- LXX
- Antilegomena
- Samaritans
- Pharisaical Tradition
- Authoritative & Enduring
- Doctrinal Suitability
- Prophetic Authorship
- Claim to be God's Word
- Dynamic Character

Canonicity is vital for those seeking God

In the beginning...

From the time of Adam, commands given by God and traditions were probably passed down by oral tradition.

Discussion: Since stories passed by oral tradition for hundreds of years before Moses, what still gives you confidence that the Bible is God's Word, not just man's word?

The Beginning

Moses first received the 10 Commandments at Mount Sinai.

His five books are the first installment of the scriptural record.

Exodus 20:22-23:33

A Summation of God's Will

At the plains of Moab...

The book of Deuteronomy
was added to the canon

By the time of Moses' death, Jews accepted the Pentateuch as from God himself

So!...The Command to Write

God explicitly commanded His servants to write down certain events and words:

- Words of God at Sinai (Exod. 24⁴)
- Tablets of Stone (Exod. 24¹² 34¹; Deut. 4¹³ 5²² 10^{2,4})
- Moses to write the Words of God (Exod. 34²⁷⁻²⁹; Num. 33² Deut. 31⁹)
- Joshua to write the Law (Deut. 27^{2-3,8}; Josh. 8³²)
- Josiah finds and reads the Law (2 Kings 22⁸⁻¹³)
- Ezra preserves/edits the Books (Ezra 7¹⁰; Neh. 9³⁸ 13¹)

Preserve the Scrolls

- Deuteronomy 31:26 "Take this Book of the Law and put it by the side of the ark of the covenant of the LORD your God, that it may be there for a witness against you."
- Notice, the Torah (and subsequent writings) were not kept IN the Ark but beside it! ...for ease of reference!

Adding to the Commands

- The Jews Considered the Torah not to be messed with! We see the command given:

• "You shall not add to the word that I command you, nor take from it, that you may keep the commandments of the LORD your God that I command you" (Deut. 4:2)

- But as for the Writings and Prophets...

The Torah Only?

- That's all well and good, but so far, you've only mentioned the Torah (Pentateuch)
- What happened to the rest?
- No one really knows for sure... but here's the generally believed account...

Writings & Prophets Limits

- Joshua to write his own covenant (Josh 24²⁶)
- Prophets unlike Moses to come after Moses (Exod 33¹¹; Deut 34¹⁰)
- Samuel writes priestly ordinances (1 Sam 10²⁵)
- Prophets commanded to write (Isa 8¹⁶ 30⁸ Jer 30² 36^{2,4,17,18} 45¹ 51⁶⁰ Ezek 43¹¹ Hab 2²)
- Book read and explained to post exilic Jews (Neh 8¹⁻¹⁸) (Emendations made)

The Pentateuch (Torah)

- Ca 722 BCE, by the time of the exile of the Northern Kingdom, the Pentateuch (תורה) was canonized.
- And upon return from the exile, the Northern tribes already had the precursor of their current Samaritan Pentateuch (ca 110 BCE)

The Prophets and the Writings

The Prophets were probably canonized ca 400 BCE

The Writings were probably canonized ca 300 BCE

The spectacular Bibliotheca Alexandrina cost S$400 million and took 30 years to create. The city of Alexandria has handed over 5,000 original manuscripts from its archives.

Alexandrian library revived in Internet age

ALEXANDRIA (Egypt) — This is the new Bibliotheca Alexandrina.

Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak and other dignitaries from around the world inaugurated what has been nicknamed the Fourth Pyramid, a long-awaited successor to one of the classical world's great marvels, the Library of Alexandria.

The ancient Alexandrian library may have had as many as 700,000 items. It was founded by Ptolemy I, Alexander the Great's successor, in 306 BC with the mandate to acquire every scroll of its time.

The main library is said to have been destroyed by fire in 47 BC, though other parts of the collection were believed to have survived.

The new building, which cost

US$225 million (S$400 million) and took 30 years to create, also has a conference centre, museum space and a planetarium.

With a computerised card catalogue and 300 Internet-connected computers, it is the largest and most advanced such institution in the Arab world.

— THE NEW YORK TIMES

Septuagint (LXX)

- This refers to the Greek translation of the Tanak. LXX means “seventy” in Latin.
- It is useful as it helps us get closer to earlier manuscripts which were lost or destroyed.
- Many versions of how they translated, such as...
6 representatives of each of the 12 tribes of Israel were sent to Alexandria with beautiful parchment of the Torah upon request of King Ptolemy to Eleazar the High Priest.
- They completed it in 72 days.

Order of Books

- Judas Maccabeus, at the end of the war, was said to have collected the lost books:
 - 2 Maccabees 2:14 "In like manner also Judas (Maccabeus) gathered together all those things that were lost by reason of the war we had, and they remain with us."
- He probably then established the traditional order of the books in 164 BCE.
- One traditional order is recorded in the Babylonian Talmud (Baba Bathra 14b-15a).

Council of Jamnia

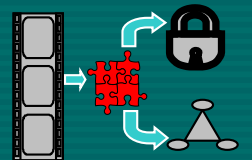

- A council is believed to have convened at Jamnia in AD 90 (this is debated)
- This was not so much to gather or decide the canon of the Tanak, but to confirm the places of the books already present
- Books disputed but still placed in the canon became known as the Anti-Legomena ("spoken against")

The Divisions of "Scripture"

- Books that were undisputed are known as the Homologomena
- The books that were definitely thrown out are known as the Apocrypha
- Disputed books are now called the Antilegomena, which include Ezekiel, Esther, Ecclesiastes, Proverbs and the Song of Songs
- Books that were never considered part of the Scriptures are known as the Pseudepigrapha

Homolegomena

- Undisputed for its content and doctrinal stability, accepted without reservation
- Thirty-four (34) out of the 39 Old Testament books fall under the category of Homolegomena
- Only five (5) fell under the category of Antilegomena

Disputed Books (Antilegomena)

- Song of Solomon - Considered too sensual
- Ecclesiastes - Considered too skeptical. However, the conclusion is very much in line with the rest of Scripture: the fear of the Lord is the key to meaning in life.
- Esther - The name of God is never mentioned in the book. However, it is clear that throughout the book, we see God preserving His people Israel.
- Ezekiel - Thought to contradict the teaching of the Mosaic Law (e.g., no ark in the temple).
- Proverbs - Thought to contain internal contradictions, this is and was not true of 26:4-5 and elsewhere.

Apocrypha

- Apocrypha is a Greek word meaning things hidden.
- Traditionally in Bibles but not read or taught to the unlearned public
- Considered by Protestants to be myth or uninspired due to content or doctrine

The Masora

The Masora is made up of two parts:

The Masora Magna is the 4 top lines and the bottom 7 lines

The Masora Parva is the notes written on the side

A Fence to the Scriptures

The Masorah or Masoretic Text (MT) is written in 3 columns for ease of reading:

- The Masora, was written like a fence around the three columns of the page to ensure no one adds to the letter of the book
- Masora Magna basically give a word count of the number of times certain words appear in the Scriptures
- Masora Parva indicates variant forms of the word (e.g. 'daud' vs 'dauid')

Sopherim

- The Sopherim were believed to be the authorized revisers of the text of the Masorah
- After the return from exile (Neh 8⁸), the Law was read and explained to the people
- The Scribes or Sopherim were the official revisers of the text, amending the text before it was passed on to the Masoretes, who were the official custodians of the MT

Division of the Torah

- The Babylonian Jews divided the Torah up into 54 parts that it may be read in a year [Parashiyyoth (parashah)].
- The Palestinian Jews had the Torah paragraphed into 154 divisions to cover it in three years [Sedarim (seder)].

Ancient Texts We Have Today

- AD 850 Codex of Pentateuch
- AD 895 Cairo Codex - Prophets
- AD 916 Leningrad Codex - Prophets
- Ca AD 930 Aleppo Codex - Whole OT
- Ca AD 918 Standard Division of OT by Masoretes of the Ben Asher Family
- Ca AD 1000 Leningrad OT

Dead Sea Scrolls

- In 11 mountain caves west of Khirbet Qumran, ancient manuscripts of all the canonical books except Esther were discovered in 1947-1956
- Manuscripts found were dated from the middle of the 3rd Century BCE to AD 135. Prior to this, manuscripts used for the Hebrew Bible dated from AD 900-1000
- Only minor discrepancies appeared compared to the MSS 1000 later—mostly of grammar!
- The 7th edition of Kittel's BHS (Hebrew Bible) incorporates the textual variants

Division of Chapters

- AD 1228 Stephen Langton divided the Latin Vulgate into chapters
- AD 1518, the chapters were applied to the Hebrew Bible (Bomberg Edition)
- AD 1571, chapters each received a number
- Verses were subsequently added, first to the Bomberg's Great Bible

The Bible Today

- 1488 - Soncino - 1st Full Hebrew Bible
- 1937 - Kittel - Biblia Hebraica - 3rd Ed
- 1951 - Kittel - 7th Ed - Included readings from the Dead Sea Scrolls

What Does This Mean to Me?

- Scripture has been transmitted us from the originals with great care
- We can have confidence in the reliability of the Scriptures that we have now
- The challenge of our predecessors to preserve, instruct and propagate the Scriptures still remains with us
